Whenever the temperatures drop below freezing (32 degrees Fahrenheit) the following facilities will be available as warming stations during listed hours:

The following tips from the Edwardsville Fire Department can help residents to stay safe when wintry weather is in the forecast:

Avoid using ovens and stoves as alternate heating sources; these are potentially dangerous sources of carbon monoxide and fire.

If you are using a portable heater, plug it directly into a wall outlet — do not use extension cords or power strips as they can easily start fires.

Keep portable heaters away from other items and never set anything on top of a portable heater.

Wear appropriate clothing when going outside. Add layers to increase warmth, and be sure to protect your face, ears and hands.

Be aware of your vehicle's fuel level; don't risk running out of gas. Keep winter supplies such as spare blankets, gloves and hats in your vehicle. Additional warming sites and hours may be added as needed.
