The Alton Little Theater is thrilled to bring to the stage the dramatic production of Alabama Story. Directed by Lee Cox & Gail Drillinger, this play, inspired by true events, unfolds a poignant tale set in Montgomery, Alabama during the Civil Rights movement. It juxtaposes the heated conflict between a segregationist senator and the firm state librarian over a children's book with the tender reunion of childhood friends – an African American man and a woman of white privilege. Lauded for its humor, heartbreak, and hope, Alabama Story is recognized as a must-see piece of theater.
