GRANITE CITY - After dedicating the past 38 years to serving Revity Credit Union, President/CEO, Keith Burton recently announced that he is planning to retire by the end of 2024.

A search for Revity's next CEO has been launched by DDJ Myers, the well-known executive search and leadership development firm.

"We'd like to recognize Keith's service and dedication to always putting Revity's members first. As our CEO since 2013, he's been responsible for all aspects of the credit union's operations and financial performance, ushering in a new era of growth while developing innovative solutions to help us serve as a beacon for continuous revitalization," says Jim Devine, Search Committee Chair.

Burton's tenure at the credit union included various roles prior to becoming CEO, including serving as Executive Vice President, Assistant Manager, Lending Manager, and Collections Manager. He received the ICUL Hall of Fame Leadership Award in 2022, currently serves on the Governor's Board of Advisors for Credit Unions and has volunteered for many civic and community groups and projects over the years.

The next CEO will be charged with continuing the legacy of Revity Credit Union while leading them into the future and setting the stage for continued growth. "Revity's Board will be completing a comprehensive search process to identify an appropriate successor," says Deedee Myers, PhD, Founder & CEO of DDJ Myers, an ALM First Company. "As facilitator, we work very closely with the Board to thoroughly evaluate both internal and external candidates and find the best fit possible."
